

Dr. Susan Clinton - PT DScPT OCS WCS FAAOMPT

Susan currently practices in Sewickley, Pennsylvania and is the co-owner and founder of Embody Physiotherapy and Wellness. Her practice centers around pelvic health, orthopedic, oncological and reproductive conditions. She utilizes health and professional coaching for clients and professionals as well as clinical mentoring.

Susan is active in teaching and research as an adjunct instructor for the University of Pittsburgh, Chatham University, Slippery Rock and Andrews University – where she is developing a Women's Health concentration in the Doctor of Science Program.

Additionally, she is an international instructor and presenter of post-professional education in women's health and orthopedic manual therapy as well as the co-host of the Podcast: Tough to Treat and The Genius Project.

Her research activities include publications on chronic pelvic pain and clinical practice guidelines for the APTA Section on Women's Health and Orthopedic Section, and serves as the Chair of the Clinical Practice Guidelines steering committee for the Section on Women's Health.

She is a Founder and Inaugural BOD member of the non-profit: Global Women's Health Initiative.

Susan enjoys walking / hiking, country line dance and ballroom and is an avid supporter of music, the arts and international objectives for women's health.

